ACCOMPLISHED YOUNG AUTHOR MAKES BOOK PRESENTATION TO THE CCJ

Port of Spain, Trinidad and Tobago, CCJ – Trinidadian-born author, Sherese Chee Mook, today presented the President of the Caribbean Court of Justice (CCJ) with her literary work titled; “Sovereignty deconstructed and self-definition revisited: A perspective on the abolition or retention of the Privy Council as the final court of appeal for Trinidad and Tobago.”

The 2010 publication provides a balanced view on the various arguments for and against the retaining of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, while creating a discussion on the related issues of sovereignty and self-definition. Her work was both well-received and commended by the President of the CCJ, The Right Honourable Mr. Justice Michael de la Bastide, TC.

While at the Court, the University of Westminster Master of Law graduate also received a tour of the CCJ courtroom, which boasts the best use of technological solutions to aide the efficiency and accessibility of justice in the Caribbean region.

This book is just one of the two published academic works of this young author, who has also published a selection of legal essays covering the topics of Contract Law, Treaty Law, Law of Diplomatic Relations, International Comparative Law, and War, Law and Morality.

Before seeking a law degree, Ms. Chee Mook had successfully taken a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of the West Indies in French and Government, and a Master of Arts degree with distinction in Diplomacy, Law and Global Change from Coventry University in the United Kingdom.
