International law / Jan Klabbbers. – 3rd ed. – Cambridge : Cambridge University Press, 2021.

xxxiii, 379 p. ; 25 cm.

ISBN 978-1-108-48724-5 (hbk.)

Loc: Main Library

International law can be defined as 'the rules governing the legal relationship between nations and states', but in reality it is much more complex, with political, diplomatic and socio-economic factors shaping the law and its application. The book is organised around four questions: Where does it come from? To whom does it apply? How does it resolve conflict? And what does it say? This third edition includes references to new case-law and literature, and features brief discussions on recent topics of general interest, including Brexit and the worldwide outbreak of the Coronavirus. Treaties in motion: the evolution of treaties from formation to termination / Malgosia Fitzmaurice and Panos Merkouris. – Cambridge : Cambridge University Press, c2020.

xlii, 376 p. ; 24 cm. (Cambridge studies in international and comparative law, 149)

ISBN 978-1-108-49588-2 (hbk.)

Loc: Judges' Library

The law of treaties is in constant motion, understood not only as locomotion, but also as motion through time and as change. Thus, kinesis and stasis, two sides of the same concept of 'motion', are the central themes of Treaties in Motion. The concept of motion adopted in this book is based on the philosophy of Aristotle. Each chapter's analysis proceeds by focusing on a specific area of a treaty's 'life-cycle', where each type of motion shines through and is described through three different frames of reference: treaties, the Vienna Convention of the Law of Treaties, and customary law. 2020

International courts in Latin America and the Caribbean : foundations and authority / Salvatore Caserta. – Oxford : Oxford University Press, 2020.

xix, 294 p. ; 24 cm. (International courts and tribunals series)

ISBN 978-0-19-886799-9

Loc: Judges' Library

This book provides the first in-depth and empirically grounded analysis of the foundations and evolution of the four Latin American and Caribbean regional economic courts: the Central American Court of Justice (CACJ), the Caribbean Court of Justice (CCJ), the Andean Tribunal of Justice (ATJ), and the Mercosur Permanent Review Court (MPRC). Challenging the mainstream account, this book argues that the Courts' operational path is not necessarily a function of their formally delegated competences or the will of the Member States. Rather, local socio-political contextual factors play a far more decisive role in influencing the direction of regional economic courts during and after their establishment. The shapeshifting crown: locating the state in postcolonial New Zealand, Australia, Canada and the UK / edited by Cris Shore and David V. Williams. – Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, c2019, 2020.

xiii, 274 p. : ill. ; 23 cm.

ISBN 978-1-108-73385-4 (pbk.)

Loc: Main Library

The Crown stands at the heart of the New Zealand, British, Australian and Canadian constitutions as the ultimate source of legal authority and embodiment of state power. A familiar icon of the Westminster model of government, it is also an enigma. Even constitutional experts struggle to define its attributes and boundaries: who or what is the Crown and how is it embodied? How are its powers exercised? How have the Crowns of different Commonwealth countries developed? This work provides insights into the Crown's changing nature and its multiple, ambiguous and contradictory meanings. It sheds new light onto the development of the state in postcolonial societies and constitutional monarchy as a cultural system. (Source – Publisher's website)

Improperly obtained evidence in Anglo-American and continental law / Dimitrios Giannouloupoulos. – Portland, Or. : Hart Publishing, 2019.

xxxv, 292 p. ; 24 cm.

ISBN 978-1-84946-382-9 (hbk.)

Loc: Main Library

This book offers an extensive cosmopolitan, cross-cultural insight into the perennial controversy over the use of improperly obtained evidence in criminal trials. It focuses on confessional evidence and evidence obtained by search and seizure, telephone interceptions and other means of electronic surveillance. The laws of England and Wales, France, Greece and the United States are systematically compared and contrasted throughout this study, but, where appropriate, analysis extends to other Anglo-American and Continental legal systems. In the court we trust : cooperation, coordination and collaboration between the ECJ and supreme administrative courts / Rob van Gestel and Jurgen de Poorter. – New York, NY. : Cambridge University Press, 2019.

xvii, 240 p. ; 24 cm. (Cambridge studies in European law and policy)

ISBN 978-1-108-48127-4 (hbk.)

Loc: Judges' Library

The preliminary reference procedure has long been envisaged as a judicial dialogue between the European Court of Justice and national courts. However, in reality, the relationship appears to be closer to one of growing separation rather than to a happy marriage between equal partners. This book tries to find out: what is behind this? Towards a system of European criminal justice: the problem of admissibility of evidence / Andrea Ryan. – London : Routledge, 2016.

xxxv, 259 p. ; 24 cm (Routledge research in EU law)

ISBN 978-1-138-68646-5 (pbk.)

Loc: Judges' Library

This book explores the mutual admissibility of evidence; a facet of EU criminal justice that is proving difficult to realise. While the Lisbon Treaty places the issue of mutual admissibility of evidence squarely on the agenda, the EU instruments to date have not succeeded in achieving this goal. Andrea Ryan argues that part of the reason for this failure is that while the mutual recognition instruments have focussed on the issue of gathering evidence and safeguarding suspects' rights, they have not addressed how evidence is to be presented and contested at trial.
